

Animal Testing Policy

Evans Vanodine International plc does not carry out or commission any animal testing on its Janitorial range of products.

Evans Vanodine purchase ingredients from reputable suppliers who are profoundly affected by two major pieces of EU regulation; Biocidal Products Directive (BPD) and REACH Regulations. Both require applicant companies to provide an extensive dossier of information to the appointed authority, including Toxicological and Eco-Toxicological data. Both pieces of legislation strongly promote the use of alternatives to animal testing to establish the safety of ingredients and preparations.
